HONGKONG, SEPTEMBER 2ND, 1882.

THE statement concerning the Administration in this Colony which has found its way into the Pall Mall Gazette—published in another column—can only be characterised as a tissue of scandalous falsehoods. The first feeling of a Hongkong resident on perusing this mendacious composition must be one of indignation, to which will succeed surprise at the audacity that has dared to put such a transparent untruth in print. We say "surprise," but the word is probably inapplicable. Such a foul and false slander must have been inspired, and judging from past experience it would not be difficult, we think, to guess the source of that inspiration. We might condemn the want of discretion displayed by the newspaper which published it, but the editor of the Pall Mall Gazette cannot be expected to have any very intimate acquaintance with the internal affairs of Hongkong, and on receiving information that such and such was the case it might not at once occur to him that the statement was made from interested motives, or that the informant was an habitual distorter of the truth. The information (save the mark) published by the Pall Mall does not profess to have been supplied by a correspondent, and it could not possibly have been derived from the local papers; even making the most ample allowance for the crassest obtuseness on the part of the compiler. It is evidently a communique. The effect of the statement is as follows—that before the arrival of Sir JOHN POPE HENNESSY the feeling of the Chinese with regard to the Government of this Colony was one of timidity and suspicion, that under the administration of Sir JOHN this was replaced by confidence, "Chinese capital was freely invested in "land (!) and various industrial enterprises "in the colony, and the Chinese had com- "menced to settle permanently on the island;" but that after the departure of that officer, Mr. MARSH, the Administrator, indulged in acts unfriendly to the natives, with the result of "a steady outflow of Chinese, with "their money, which has now reached such a "pitch that on June 10, only three short months "after the Governor's strong hand was re- "moved from the helm, a public meeting of "colonists was called for the purpose of "discussing the reasons which have led to "the withdrawal of native capital from the "colony." A more infamous libel was never penned than the above reference to Mr. MARSH, while the untruthfulness of the whole of the statements is transparent in this Colony. Unfortunately it will not be equally clear to readers in England; the writer of the communique must, indeed, be credited with a diabolical ingenuity in his targiversation. The idea of dragging in the meeting of "persons interested in land" as a fact corroborative of the statements made was certainly clever, however unprincipled it might be. The cause that led up to that meeting was extensive gambling in land, in which many Chinese came to ruin. The Chinese themselves now seem disposed to throw some of the blame of this gambling on Sir JOHN POPE HENNESSY, saying that he led them into it by specious statements as to "all the wonders that should be;" and when property had been inflated to double its real value His Excellency had the satisfaction of blowing his trumpet in connection therewith, and in the Legislative Council he pointed to it as a proof of his successful administration. The crisis came, the foreign banks saw a crash looming and called in their advances, the native capitalists in Canton and Fatshan lost confidence and followed suit, and the whole fabric collapsed like a house of cards. Money became exceedingly scarce, credit was not so readily given as before, and considerable inconvenience was felt, even by those who were not interested in land. This being the state of affairs the Chinese called a meeting to consider the matter. The difficulty was purely a commercial one, and no political considerations of any kind were introduced at the meeting, with the exception of a harmless but impracticable suggestion that the Government should lend out money at a low rate of interest. Yet the holding of this meeting is seized upon as the foundation for a statement to the effect that Mr. MARSH's acts had led to the destruction of the confidence of the Chinese in British administration. Magna est veritas et prevalebit—we hope so, at any rate. It happens that the land bubble burst before His Excellency the Administrator returned to Hongkong, and no responsibility in relation to it can therefore by any stretch of a malign imagination be saddled upon him. The Governor's "strong hand," it is stated, is to be transferred to one of the Australian Colonies. Alas! for that colony, presumably Queensland. However, Hongkong has happily got rid of her Old Man of the Sea, and we can only hope we shall never look upon his like again. His hand is undoubtedly strong—for the working of mischief.

The British steamer Diamante was undocked at Kowloon yesterday.

The delivery of the English mail was begun at 7.15 a.m. yesterday.

Telegrams for Bangkok can go forward by mails closing at Singapore at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. to-day.

The Agents (Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co.) inform us that the Netherlands India S. N. Co.'s steamer Wm. Mackinnon left Batavia for this port yesterday.

A telegram in the Indian papers says it is reported from Rangoon that there have been numerous failures amongst the Jews and Chinese in the bazaar, the liabilities of one firm being three lakhs.

We would draw our readers' attention to the fact that on and after Friday, the 15th instant, the hours of closing for the English mail will be, as formerly, the steamer leaving the harbour at 4 p.m. For hours of closing see Postal notices.

The London and China Express is informed that Mr. H. H. Nelson, formerly of Hongkong, has joined the Board of the China Shippers' Mutual Steam Navigation Company (Limited), and will shortly proceed to the Straits and China to represent the company.

Concerning Mr. Chiarini's missing panther we have heard nothing more definite than that some grass cutters have seen the animal on the hillside. For some days past several sportsmen have been in search of it but we cannot hear of one who has come within range of it.

By the steamer Bellerophon, Mr. J. Boyd, Senior Clerk, Commissariat and Transport Department, Hongkong, arrived here (says the Singapore Times), on his way to British North Borneo, where he will take up the duties of sub-accountant to the Treasury at Sandakan. He has been lent by his own Department to the British North Borneo Co. for six months, and only goes on leave, as it were, for that period, so far as is known at present.

On Thursday night Mr. Chiarini's Circus was again well patronised, and the entertainment offered was if anything superior to any preceding it. The Shimidzu Japanese troupe gave a remarkably clever juggling performance, and Messrs. French and Anglo received much applause for their clever hat catching tricks. Three admirably trained ponies went through some balancing tricks on a see-saw in a very intelligent manner under the guidance of Mr. José Romano, whilst the handsome Italian horse Garibaldi displayed to perfection the docility and intelligence the equine race is capable of developing with careful instruction. A classical acrobatic performance called "the white marble statuary" given by the Faust family elicited loud applause. The other items of the programme were carried out most successfully, and the performance generally was eminently mirth-provoking and amusing. The Circus is announced to leave on Sunday by the steamer Clifton, and the last performance will be given this evening.

The English mail this week has been brought by the Ganges, another of the recent additions to the fleet of the P. & O. Company, this being her first trip to China. She is a very fine boat, her gross tonnage being 4,192, and her horse power 4,500. She carries two smoke stacks, and is schooner rigged. She has accomplished no remarkable travelling on her voyage out, having been steaming easily, but she is speeded up to 15 knots. She measures 390 feet in length, 42 feet beam, and 35 feet depth of hold. Though of pretty nearly the same size as the Shannon, which was here a few weeks ago, the Ganges is arranged in a different manner. Her saloon is not amidships as in the other boat, but is upon the main deck, in the after part of the ship, but not extending so far back as the stern. It is very wide, extending the whole width of the ship, there not being the usual cabins on either side. Two long tables pass along the entire length in the centre of the room, whilst along each side shorter tables are placed at right angles with them. It is very handsomely fitted up. The cabins are in the rear of the saloon, taking up the whole of the main deck astern of it with the exception of a passage in the centre. A music room and a smoking room are on the upper deck, above the saloon. The vessel is flush decked, with a fine hurricane deck amidships.

A Reuter's telegram from St. Petersburg, July 23rd, states:—The Turkistan Gazette publishes intelligence from Kuldja stating that excesses were committed by the Chinese troops on their entry into the Ili territory. They overturned and destroyed all the field telegraph lines, and the Chinese Governor Tsin compelled a Russian caravan which he encountered to turn back. It was only allowed to proceed on its journey in consequence of the energetic remonstrances of the Russian Consul. On entering the town the Chinese committed many grievous outrages, robbing and interfering with Russian merchants in their trade, and maltreating a Russian workman. The Chinese soldiers took possession of a house, which was formerly occupied by Russian artillery officers. At this point a conflict nearly occurred, the Russian soldiers loading their rifles, and the Chinese drawing their swords. Bloodshed was only averted by the interposition of an orderly officer of Tsian Tsinn. A patrol of Cossacks succeeded in arresting a number of plunderers.—An increase in the Russian fleet in the Far East is ordered, and several monitors, which have been transformed into gunboats, are about to leave the Baltic for Wladiwostock.

The following appears in the Pall Mall Gazette:—It is to be hoped that the Colonial Office will scrutinise carefully the doings of the officers who are administering the government of Hongkong during Governor Sir Pope Hennessy's temporary absence. The policy of fair play to the preponderating Chinese population of the island which has been steadily pursued, in face of much local opposition, for five years was followed by its natural result. Native timidity and suspicion were gradually replaced by confidence in our administration; Chinese capital was freely invested in land and various industrial enterprises in the colony, and the Chinese had commenced to settle permanently on the island. Shortly before the Governor's departure, Mr. Ng Choy, the only Chinese member of the Legislative Council, prophesied that any reversal of his policy, or any retrograde step, would inevitably be followed by the distrust of the Chinese and the withdrawal of their capital. Unfortunately this warning was unheeded. The Chinese became alarmed at one or two apparently unfriendly acts of the Administrator as soon as the Governor had left. The consequence was a steady outflow of Chinese, with their money, which has now reached such a pitch that on June 10, only three short months after the Governor's strong hand was removed from the helm, a public meeting of the colonists was called "for the purpose of discussing the reasons which have led to the withdrawal of native capital from the colony." Confidence is a plant of slow growth, especially in the sensitive and suspicious minds of Asiatics, and, unless Lord Kimberley interferes, the good effects of the work of the past five years will be effaced from the minds of the native population, which, after all, forms the backbone of the prosperity of the colony and of our whole trade with China.

We take the following items from the London and China Express of the 28th July:—

His Excellency Chen Ta-jen, the Chinese Minister to the United States, has arrived at New York, on his return from Europe.

An explosion of gas occurred on board the steamer Honam near Aden, on her voyage out to Hongkong, by which one man was killed and three or four others seriously injured.

It is now very generally understood that his Excellency Sir John Pope Hennessy will receive the Governorship of one of the Australian colonies on completion of his time at Hongkong, in April next year.

Since the decision of the Colonial Office with regard to the proposal to erect the new gaol for Hongkong on Stone-Cutter's Island, correspondence has passed between the colony and the Home Government, but as yet no decision has been arrived at.

We are informed that the Conference of Foreign Ministers sitting at Tokio, to discuss and arrange with the Japanese Minister for Foreign Affairs the terms of the revised treaties, has come to an agreement with respect to the tariff proposals, and that this portion of the revision is now definitely settled. Of the nature of the settlement nothing has yet been made public, but we believe that a considerable increase in the present duties has been agreed to.

The Gazette of the 25th inst. contains the announcement that the Queen has been pleased to grant unto Mr. Henry Dyer her Royal license and authority that he may accept and wear the Insignia of the Third Class of the Order of the Rising Sun, which his Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Japan has been pleased to confer upon him, in approbation of his services while actually and entirely employed by the Emperor beyond Her Majesty's dominions.

The steamer Kwongsang, now en route for the Far East, has on board for the Kaiping Colliery Company's use at their mines two 6-wheeled tank locomotives, three third-class railway carriages, one large briquette machine, six thousand coal sacks, besides a large quantity of engineering stores, &c. The Glenfruin took out a quantity of tools, bar iron, stores, &c.; and the Glenorgles, which is now loading, will take out a quantity of steel rails and fastenings, and other railway appliances, for use at the same mines.

We hear it is contemplated by the Chinese community in London to pay a tribute of respect to Sir John Pope Hennessy, Governor of Hongkong. They have decided to present him, whilst on leave in this country, with an illuminated address, which will convey in emphatic language the grateful feelings with which they regard his administration of Hongkong. Sir J. Pope Hennessy has been offered, and has accepted, the presidency of the Crime Section of the Social Science Congress, to be held this year at Nottingham.

The lastest mail advices received home were:—Foochow June 9th, Shanghai 10th, Manila 14th, Hongkong 15th, Batavia 19th, Saigon 19th, Singapore 23rd, Yokohama, vid San Francisco 23rd. The French mail with the advices dated as above, from China and the Straits Settlements, was delivered, vid Naples, on the 22nd inst., two days in advance of its due date. The Japan advices, vid San Francisco, were received on the 27th inst. The steamer Cathay, with the next inward (P. and O.) mail, ex steamer Brindisi, from Shanghai, June 17th, left Port Said at five p.m. on the 27th inst., en route to Brindisi vid Alexandria. The mail will probably reach London on the 2nd prox.

In the London Bankruptcy Court an application was made to Mr. Registrar Pepys, sitting as Chief Judge, to grant an allowance of £5 a week to Mr. G. J. Fraser. The facts were as follows:—The debtors were merchants of London and Singapore, and failed in May last with liabilities to the amount of £35,000, and assets £17,000. To enable the creditors in the Far East to be served with the notice of the meeting, the date for holding the same was extended to October next. Mr. G. J. Fraser, one of the debtors, was assisting the receiver and manager in the realisation of the estate, and Mr. F. Cooper Willis now applied for leave to allow him £5 a week out of the estate for his services. The Registrar granted the application.

In the Admiralty division, before the Right Hon. Sir R. J. Phillimore, an action was brought by William Charles Jack, the captain, and the officers of the British steamship Hong Ann, of 440 tons, for distribution of salvage. On the 26th of November, 1879, the Hong Ann, of which the defendants are owners, in the course of a voyage from Newcastle to Singapore, with coals and general cargo, fell in with the British steamship Penguin, laden with a general cargo, disabled, and stranded in the Red Sea. The plaintiffs, after seven weeks' labour, succeeded in saving the greater part of her cargo, of the value, as the plaintiffs alleged, of £28,000. A claim was subsequently made by the owners of the Hong Ann and the plaintiffs against the owners of the Penguin, which was referred to the arbitration of Mr. C. P. Butt, Q.C., who awarded £2,500, which sum was paid to the present defendants, who have since retained it. The plaintiffs now claimed to have an equitable portion of the sum of £2,500. On behalf of the defendants it was contended that the Hong Ann was subjected to considerable risk and danger, and was damaged, and that inasmuch as the services rendered took forty-seven days, during which time they had not derived any profit, the plaintiffs were only entitled to £500, which sum the defendants paid into court to satisfy the plaintiffs' claim. His Lordship awarded £244, and apportioned it as follows—£350 to the captain, and the remainder to the officers, according to their ratings, with costs.

Our readers will know that the Malay chiefs who were deported after the Perak war to the Seychelles have several times petitioned that they may return. This has, however, always been refused by the authorities, who did not think they were justified in permitting their return. They have recently, however, sent a petition requesting that they might be permitted to go to Mauritius. This Lord Kimberley has seen fit to grant, and they have permission either to reside there or return to the Seychelles, as they wish. This is a concession to the original terms of their exile.

Captain Harry Holdsworth Rawson, who has been appointed to the Tamar, additional as principal transport officer in Egypt, entered the service in 1857; was present at the capture of the Peiho Forts and Peking (China medal), and for three months was in command of 1,300 Chinese troops, for the defence of Ningpo against the rebels. In 1873 he received the thanks of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty for his report on the capabilities of defence, &c., of the Suez Canal. He hoisted the English flag at Nicosia, the capital of Cyprus, and for one month was military commandant of that place.

POLICE COURT.

1st September.

BEFORE CAPT. H. G. THOMSETT, R.N.

RIOTOUS SOLDIERS.

John Dillson and Edward Goldsmith, privates of the Buffs, were charged, the first with having assaulted a coolie named Dan Amul and also the police, and the second with attempting to rescue the first, and also assaulting the police.

Shortly after Thursday midnight the two defendants were in Queen's-road East in somewhat intoxicated condition, when they met a coolie, whom the first defendant struck a blow across the face with a stick without the smallest provocation. The blow caused a mark across the nose and face, and the man called for the police, upon which the first defendant ran away, but was caught by a Sikh constable and a lokong. The defendant resisted his arrest, and his companion came to his assistance, both striking the constable and breaking away. They were again caught, and another struggle ensued in which a Sikh was knocked down and beaten, but other members of the force coming up in response to whistles for assistance, and after a most violent struggle these notaries of Mars and Bacchus were lodged in durance vile, somewhat the worse in appearance for their recent proceedings.

Lieut. Dauglish gave the first defendant a good character, but the second not quite so good a one.

The first defendant was sentenced to 14 days for the assault on the coolie, and both men to a month's imprisonment for assaulting and resisting the police.

LARCENY.

Au Atan, bricklayer, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment as a rogue and vagabond.

On the 8th inst. the man was seen leaving a house by one Chan Loi, who questioned him as to what he had been doing there, when he said he had been mending the roof. The answer given was found to be a fabrication. A week after the same man was found by a woman in a similar way when he gave her the same tale, which proved untrue, and property was missed.

The man had been in gaol on three previous occasions.

A boy named Chan Kam was convicted of stealing an umbrella from a man near the Harbour Office yesterday morning, and the court was of opinion that he was under 16 years of age and ordered him to be whipped ten strokes with a rattan, and kept in solitary confinement for 14 days.

CASE DISMISSED.

Fourteen Chinese were brought before the court on a charge of public gambling on the 31st ultimo.

The Hon. Ng Choy defended.

Acting Inspector Hennessy with Inspector Perry and some police and informer invaded No. 54B, Hollywood road.—As they went upstairs, some one called out, there was a general rush, and the lights were put out. When a light was obtained the prisoners were arrested, and in the room were found tables, stools, cards, dominoes, &c.

The Hon. Ng Choy, for the defence, pointed out that the whole thing was illegal as the warrant was issued for No. 54, Hollywood road, whereas the house entered was No. 54B.

The case was dismissed.

COUNTERFEIT COIN.

Mok A. Ip, barber, and Fung Afok, shroff, were charged with attempting to pass base metal for silver, on the 31st ult.

The first defendant took three bad dollars to a money changer and asked for change. The changer saw they were bad dollars, and had the man arrested. The prisoner then led the police to the second defendant, who, he said, had given him the coins. The second defendant said he was an instructor of shroffs, and the first prisoner came to him, and asked for the three coins to examine them. He let the man take the coins.

The first defendant was sentenced to a month's imprisonment, but the second was discharged and allowed to retain 37 bad dollars found in his possession.

NEGLECT OF DUTY BY CONSTABLES.

Leong Achui and In Apo, P.Cs. Nos. 221 and 152, were charged with neglect of duty on the 30th ult.

Mr. Wotton defended.

Inspector Hennessy sent out two constables in private clothes with instructions, and they went down into Gage-street. Looking down Peel-street, they saw the first defendant standing at the corner turning into Wellington-street, with a crowd near him. They turned into Wellington-street further on, and came to the other side of the crowd at the corner of Aberdeen-street, and there they saw the second defendant standing, whilst in the crowd there was a man selling tickets and taking money. Passing into Queen's-road, they passed up another lane so as to get into the centre of the crowd, but a man gave warning of their approach and the man who had been selling tickets escaped. The man who gave warning also ran away. They then went up to the first defendant and asked why the crowd was there, and he replied that he did not know; they then saw the man who gave warning of their approach in conversation with the second defendant. The man who gave warning was arrested and convicted, and the defendants were taken before the Captain Superintendent of Police, who ordered this charge to be brought against them. The first defendant was in the crowd and the second a few yards off, both were in uniform and on duty. Had the witnesses gone there in uniform, the crowd would have dispersed.

The defendants were fined $5 each, or in default 10 days' imprisonment.

Though there are many fine churches in Washington, the ugliest and shabbiest of them all is where President Arthur goes. Every Sunday morning he is seen, on foot and unattended, crossing over to the old moss-grown sanctuary of St. John's. For it is there comes to his ear, above the music of the organ and choir, the sound of a voice he once loved best, now "singing in Paradise." The romantic story is very short. Years ago, a young lawyer, named Chester Arthur, chancing to spend a Sunday in the capital, strayed into St. John's, and saw for the first time, Ella Herndon, who sang in the choir—sweet soprano, clear and rich, that filled with melody the musty old place where Presidents went to worship nigh eighty years ago. He did not make her acquaintance then, but he ever thought of her, and, when her father, a sea-captain, went down with his ship in 1857, the young lawyer met and befriended the widow and her daughter Ella. She was very prepossessing, of willowy figure, loveable character, and rare attainments, and the voice of an Israfel. They were married. She died in 1880, and her portrait hangs in the cerulean chamber of the White House. And that is why the President of the United States goes to the shabbiest old church.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS."

SIR,—Permit me to remark that your account of the passage from Kowloon of the steam launches Morning Star and Antelope on their last trip from Kowloon on Thursday evening is not correct. The little Antelope having strict orders to keep as far as possible from the big Morning Star gave the latter as usual a wide berth by going much to the east of the Messenger, and consequently was being steered for the east side of Peddar's Wharf. The Morning Star was presumably making for the west side of the wharf, but for some reason or other the big launch kept coming nearer and nearer broadside on to the small launch, and finding that it was not possible to pass the Antelope dropped astern a little in order to keep out of the way of a buoy and cargo boat, and subsequently ran into the stern (not on the side near the stem as stated in your paper) of the Antelope, but the concussion was happily very slight. I am also under the impression that the Morning Star, seeing a large launch alongside the west part of Peddar's Wharf determined to try and push, as it were, the Antelope much to the eastward, and so land her passengers on the side of the Wharf the Antelope was making for.—Yours, &c,

TRAVELLER.

HOME AND CHINA AFFAIRS.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

LONDON, 28th July, 1882.

The Egyptian crisis is naturally the burning question of the day, and if it be, as it is, a subject ill adapted for vaticination, it is certainly an affair which teems with incidents capable of attracting most serious reflection.

The British and French Governments will fill a dismal page in history in relation to the affair, and representing as they do parliamentary institutions in Europe, must throw permanent discredit on democracy in so far as diplomacy and foreign relations are concerned. In my last I condemned the conduct of the French in strong terms for having deserted England in the hour of need and for pursuing a selfish policy irrespective of her national duties and engagements. I also animadverted on the extreme instability of the French Government. It soon became very clear indeed that public opinion in France was somewhat conscience-stricken, and felt uneasy at the stigma which the policy pursued was likely to engender, and the Cabinet displayed signs of relenting. Now it seems that M. de Freycinet had pledged himself to the establishment of a mayoralty in Paris, an institution which many of his followers were averse to. The subject was not on the tapis at all, but a number of Republicans managed by a side wind to precipitate it, and succeeded in placing the Ministers in a minority, when the Cabinet at once resigned. The President of the Republic, in view of the extreme gravity of the Egyptian crisis, declined the resignations, the Republican majority becoming alarmed declared that they meant nothing, were not in earnest, were in want of a lark or some such excuse, passed a vote of confidence in the Government, and the fallen Ministry resumed office. M. de Freycinet then determined to stand by the English alliance resolutely and loyally and continued of the same mind for nearly three days. The Minister of War then declared that he would require 40,000 men to undertake the occupation of Egypt and a vote of 45 millions of francs. As such a force only exists on paper and would involve calling out the reserves, and moreover there being no chance of the Chambers granting the money, M. de Freycinet backed down like a man. He declared that he valued the European concert beyond all earthly treasures, that although the Western Powers as they are now called—namely, Germany, Austria, Russia, and Italy—did not object but would not assent to the joint occupation of Egypt by England and France, he out of respect to the concert aforesaid would confine the intervention of France to the protection of a portion of the Canal. The inference seems to be that England is to occupy the other portion of the Canal, but it strikes me as more than possible, that each European nation interested in the maintenance of rapid communication with the East, will be called upon to defend a portion of the passage. This would be a good move at all events, as it would make combined Europe the guardian of the communication, and would entirely segregate the Egyptian and the Canal question.

England's policy was simply and solely actuated by Mr. Gladstone's unswerving determination to react on the lines laid down by Lord Beaconsfield. He had made a deadly enemy of Turkey, he had deeply offended Austria, and had thrown the Sultan into the able hands and strong arms of the German Chancellor. He utterly repudiated the Sultan's suzerainty over Egypt, and simply relied on the French alliance to set matters aright. This is conclusively proved by the terms of the notorious joint note, which declared that the Khedivship of Tewfik would be sustained, so long as he was loyal to the constitution, videlicet the Control. That declaration was doubtless considered adapted to dispose of the question of the Sultan's suzerainty as well as of Arabi's hopes and aspirations. And there is no doubt that such would have been the effect produced, but for the conviction that England would not fight under any circumstances. The fall of Gambetta rendered it necessary that England and France should cut the joint note between them. The mastication took a little time, it was a very nasty job, but when it was effected the general belief that England would not fight became the chief factor in the affair.

Whatever Mr. Gladstone's ideas may have been upon this subject, he certainly hoped that a "demonstration" à la Dulcigno would be a good bragging card, and he managed to induce the French Government to send an iron-clad fleet to Alexandria to swell the proportions of this terrible fleet.

Really the matter would be simply ludicrous were it not for its extreme gravity. The sole end and aim which Mr. Gladstone had in view was to intimidate, coerce, and make terms with Arabi. In plain terms, the affair resolved itself into a game of brag between Mr. Gladstone and Arabi. The only chance of Mr. Gladstone fighting seemed to be involved in the French alliance. I do not think there are any Quakers in France, or at all events if there are they are not in the Cabinet, and as French naval officers are often fire eaters, there did seem a chance, a hope, that Mr. Bright's peace-at-any-price doctrine might prove distasteful to them. But M. de Freycinet, seeing the greatest danger to France in arousing the fanatical spirit on which it became clear Arabi relied, turned his coat and showed the white feather. He fraternised with Arabi, he allowed high French officials in Egypt to advise Arabi to resist, he allowed the French fleet to remain passive whilst fortifications were being erected to destroy them, and when the English Admiral was compelled either to give up the game or attack these fortifications, the French fleet gave Arabi great encouragement by ostentatiously deserting their ally. There is only one more thing they could have done, namely, to have helped Arabi and have turned upon us.

At this stage of the narrative Mr Bright's resignation crops up. When payment of Church rates was compulsory, the Quakers had a conscientious scruple on the subject. These they managed to appease in this manner. The tax-gatherer would call and demand the rates, the demand would be refused. A piece of silver plate or some other portable and valuable article would be pointed out, as not being in present use, which the tax-gatherer would take in distraint. He would then ask the name of the silversmith with whom the family dealt and would take the article seized to the address given, where the rates and charges would be paid and the article sent back. After this little innocent game had been played for several years by the tax-collector on the same defaulter, the process would become better organised, and so it would come to pass that the collector would go to the silversmith and receive the rates on the threat of distraint, if it were refused. In provincial towns in England one or two of the leading silversmiths would thus pay the Church rates for the entire Quaker community.

This pious, conscientious frolic has been imitated to a certain extent by Mr. Bright ever since he joined the Gladstone Cabinet. It is as clear as anything can be that his understanding with the Premier was of this nature precisely:—"Thou may bray, and bully, and threaten and demonstrate to thy heart's content, but don't thee fight, for if thee dost, I must resign." On these principles the Dulcigno demonstration was conducted. Thus has the Irish question been trifled with until nothing but martial law can stamp the rebellion out. The South African question was arranged on these lines. Mr. Bright could retain office whilst General Roberts with an army of 15,000 men was being sent out to subdue the Boers, but when it appeared that the Boers meant to fight notwithstanding, Mr. Gladstone was attacked with a sense of "blood guiltiness" and caved in. The Egyptian difficulty has attained its present grievous and alarming proportions, entirely through the conviction that Mr. Bright's peace-at-any-price doctrine was part of Mr. Gladstone's creed and belief. This all comes of playing at war, of diluting its horrors with milk and honey until its effects become dissipated flavoured with humanitarianism. Mr. Bright has managed to induce England to her cost, and perhaps her ruin, to adopt free trade principles and compete against the world clad in the armour of protection, he would if he could disband our army and lay up the navy, whilst every nation in Europe bristles with bayonets. At least I suppose so, or what other sequel can there be to his fad?

But to return to the game of brag between Mr. Gladstone and Arabi. The Sultan must naturally have been keenly exasperated at his suzerainty being repudiated. He might not have had any objection to Tewfik so long as the Khedive acknowledged he was tributary to the Porte, but when the maintenance of Tewfik irrespective of the Sultan had been determined upon and announced by Mr. Gladstone, the matter became very different and the Sultan had really no one to operate with except Arabi. Seeing therefore that Arabi had assumed the head of the army and by means of his influence with so called National party, had made himself dictator, the Sultan was in a manner bound to support him—firstly because had Turkish troops been employed to put Arabi down, the Sultan would thereby earn the animosity of both the National party and the fanatics who had joined Arabi; secondly because he would be allaying the storm which Mr. Gladstone had created; and thirdly because, having put down Arabi, he would find the Khedive independent of him, and himself under the dictation of Mr. Gladstone. Therefore it is pretty clear that the Sultan would advise Arabi to resist. Then as for the French, we know that they encouraged Arabi to resistance, and the general conviction was that England would not fight. Arabi therefore went on bragging and industriously continued to work at the fortifications which menaced the British fleet and which Admiral Seymour was determined to put a stop to. It soon became Mr. Gladstone's turn to play, and Admiral Seymour demolished forts. Blood was drawn with a vengeance, but still Mr. Bright remained in the Cabinet, doubtless on the plea that Admiral Seymour acted in self defence. Then came Arabi's turn to play; he released the convicts, let the mob and the soldiery loose, and these fired the city and murdered all the foreigners they could find. Arabi then withdrew with his army and took up a strong position about fifteen miles from Alexandria, and there awaits the next move of Mr. Gladstone.

The following report of what occurred in the House of Commons last Monday night will best indicate what that move will be:—

Mr. Gladstone, in Committee of Supply, moved a vote of credit of £2,500,000 for the purpose of strengthening Her Majesty's forces in the Mediterranean. The force would be 2,400 cavalry, 13,400 infantry, 1,700 artillery, making a total of 17,500, in addition to which were 3,700 garrison, artillery, engineers and commissariat staff, and a reserve of 3,000. To meet this sum it would be proposed to add 3d. to the income tax for the last half of the year, or 1½d. for the whole year, making a total impost of 9 halfpence in the pound. The revenue so far had exceeded the estimates that he could give the promised grants for main roads without the extra carriage duty. To-morrow a state of emergency would be declared so that the Reserves might be called out and the House would be asked to sanction the employment of Native troops outside India. He argued at some length that the Egyptian question was outside the policy of non-intervention, and was the result of an arrangement made in 1879, and that we had the moral concurrence of all Europe in what we were doing.

Sir S. Northcote had never heard a speech which required to be so carefully considered. He could not admit a great deal of it, and strongly urged that progress should be reported.

After some discussion the vote was postponed in deference to the general feelings of the House.

This of course having been determined upon some days previously, caused Mr. Bright's resignation, and the upshot of it is that we are at war with the national party of Egypt combined with the fanatical Mahomedans who respond to the appeal of the priests to raise the flag of Islam and to slay the infidels, and led by Arabi, who is encouraged by the Sultan. We have the Khedive on our side, Arabi has the Sultan on his. The ultimate is unfitted for European warfare, but fortunately we can draw troops from India, whence reinforcements are on their way.

The situation is full of peril. We are acting in defiance of the will of the Sultan, who is the suzerain of the province. We have not the sanction nor the authority of the Khedive for what we have done. We have no sect, party, nor faction in Egypt to support us or to fall back upon, and we are refused the sanction of Europe both for what we have done, and what we are about to do. We have acted on our own motion and have naught but our own might to rely upon. With the aid of other Powers we may keep the Canal open; by the presence of ironclads we may retain Alexandria; and by the success of our army we may hold the ashes of Cairo; but as for following the green flag of the Prophet into the desert, that would end like Pharaoh following the Israelites across the Red Sea.

The Khedive has issued a proclamation dismissing Arabi. It commences thus—

"To Arabi Pasha.—For your departure for Kafr Dawar accompanied by the army, and thus abandoning Alexandria without our order, and your stopping the railway traffic, and your preventing our receiving any telegraphic communication, also preventing our communications through the post, and your impeding the return of the refugees to their homes in Alexandria and your persistence in the war preparations, and your refusal to come to us after receiving our order—for these reasons we dismiss you from the office of Minister of War and Marine, and we send you our order to this effect for your information."

The remainder of the proclamation is instructive. It upbraids Arabi for precipitating Egypt in a war with so great a power as England, complains of the loss of 400 guns, and states that the English only lost five killed. It further states that when after silencing some of the forts, Admiral Seymour demanded the surrender of the remainder, the Council of War refused to comply without the sanction of the Sultan, which was at once applied for by telegram, and that Arabi neglected to reinforce them until the answer arrived. It is made to appear that the Khedive sanctioned and promoted all the resistance he could to the capture of the forts.

A few days before the bombardment of Alexandria, Arabi sent a letter to Mr. Gladstone, but it did not speech, in which he said that from to-morrow British troops composing the Expeditionary Force to Egypt would be landing at Alexandria. Mr. Gladstone, who also spoke, said that England goes to Egypt with clean hands and no secret intentions, but merely to protect her interests, which are identical with those of the civilized world.

FIVE YEARS OLD
THESE GRAND OLD SCOTCH WHISKIES are shipped only by RICHARD MATHEWS & COMPANY, of London and Inverness, who are sole possessors of the Brand "CARLTON." They are distilled from the finest Highland Malt only, are in every respect equal to the best Cognac Brandy, and guaranteed to be entirely free from Fusil Oil or other noxious impurities.
The following Letter has been received from the Secretary of the "CARLTON" CLUB.
CARLTON CLUB, Dec. 20, 1875.
MESSRS. R. MATHEWS & Co.
GENTLEMEN,—In reply to your inquiry as to whether the Whiskey you are supplying to this Club is approved by the Members, the best answer I can give is that the consumption of this Whiskey in the Club has GREATLY INCREASED since it has been supplied by your firm. There can be no doubt whatever about the Whiskey being MOST EXCELLENT. It is Old and Soft, and I may safely say that it is much approved by the Members.
Yours obediently,
W. GRIFFIN SUTTON,
Secretary.
CAUTION.
It has come to the knowledge of the Shippers of the "CARLTON" WHISKIES, that the empty Bottles have been dishonestly refilled with the poisonous trash very often sold in China under the name of Whiskey, this is therefore to caution consumers to CAREFULLY EXAMINE the CORKS and CAPSULES to see they have not been tampered with; also that the Corks, Capsules, and Labels are branded with their Trade Mark.
For Prices and Terms, apply to

MESSRS. SUTTON AND SON'S ESTABLISHMENT AT READING.

The annual meetings of the Royal Agricultural Society of England are to the agriculturist what the Derby is to the sporting man, and just as the year is by some known by the name of the winner of the blue riband of the turf for the year, so by a very large number the year is spoken of as the year of the Bedford or of the Bristol meeting. The Reading meeting this year bids fair to be one of the most successful ever held by the society. The show will be open to the public (to view the implements only) on Saturday, July 8th, but for cattle will be fully open on the Monday morning, when the judges will begin their work.

But in addition to the show itself, the visit of the Royal Agricultural Society to Reading will enable visitors to see something of the Agriculture of Berkshire, which is certainly as advanced as in any part of the country. Independently of the agriculture of the district, probably there are few persons who will not use the opportunity of paying a visit to the marvellous seed business of Messrs. Sutton and Sons, and also to go over their seed trial grounds, which are arranged this year to show the public in actual growth nearly every kind of farm and garden crop, and also many flowers. Until a few weeks ago we had not been over these premises for five years, and so we were simply astonished at the growth during that period. Messrs. Sutton's premises now cover an area of nearly eight acres, and on this are well arranged the numerous store-rooms and offices. On entering these from the market-place one finds himself in a long corridor, the walls of which are covered with Minton tiles, while on the left are rows of very graceful foliage plants. Beyond, and on each side, are the various offices, many of which, and certainly those occupied by members of the firm, are in telephonic communication with every department. The ledger-room—in which the visitor will be shown that so numerous are the Browns and Smiths on the books of the firm that for each of these names a separate ledger is kept—is the largest ledger-room outside a Government office. This is but a specimen of what the offices of this large business are like. Everything is done here with a marvellous regularity. On the occasion of our visit, but a few weeks ago, we saw several orders carried right through, and if any of our readers can during the show week see this they will have a treat. Nearly 2,000 letters arrived by the morning's post, and these were quickly opened and sorted and each despatched to its proper part of the house. Those containing orders were first of all sorted in the counting-house, and the person ordering identified and his order re-made out for the account. The order then went through first the flower seed, then the vegetable, and finally the agricultural department, and in each whatever was required was at once put up, when it went to the packer, who packed it, despatched the documents to the invoice-room, received a way-bill, which was with the parcel despatched by the railway vans in waiting. Everything worked as smoothly as a clock, and is an admirable illustration of how beautifully with proper arrangements and loyal allies in the various departments such a great business can be carried on. To show the size of these various rooms we may mention that the vegetable seed-room is 161ft. in length by 40ft. wide. Around this room right up to the lofty ceiling are small drawers in which the various seeds are kept. The value of some of these may be judged from the fact that two lots we were shown cost first hand £2 2s. an oz. Of course these were exceptional cases. The farm-seeds stores consists of a building of four floors, and has a cubic capacity of 304,704ft. The seed farm order room is 180ft. in length by 60ft. in width, and the room in which the goods leave for the railway—and which is frequently filled more than once or twice a day—is 150ft. in length by 60ft. wide.

These are a few details of a business that will be sure to attract many visitors during the show week, quite as much in consequence of its world wide reputation as from the fact that it is, perhaps, the largest seed business in the world. It is not a very old business, having been established in 1830, or rather more than half a century ago. But it has been built up in consequence of the scrupulous honesty of the Sutton family from the very first, and their constant warfare against seed adulteration, and the genuine and high class character of their own seeds. And they have also been enterprising in the highest degree. The firm were the first to attach printed labels to packets of seed—they now print on every packet full directions for the cultivation of the plants. The first descriptive catalogue of seeds ever printed was issued by Mr. Sutton, and now their annual catalogues are complete guides to work in the vegetable and flower garden and on the work of the farm. Of one of these catalogues alone not less than 70,000 (weighing 25 tons) are annually sent out to the customers of the firm. Special arrangements have to be made with the Post-office when these are sent out. Seeds were first sent carriage free from Reading, and they were also the first to send small seeds post free. All these are examples of the progress the firm has always been so ready to make as new advances, which could be utilised, are made in other directions. And with this enterprise the firm has never forgotten that after all the true basis of success now and for the future must depend on the excellence of the goods sent out. There is nothing worse than bad seed. This year we know a farmer who sowed a piece of mangel with seed brought from a local seedsman. Not a dozen seeds came up, and in testing the seeds afterwards for germination in a hothouse only 18 per cent germinated. We discovered afterwards that it was old seed that had been lying by for some years, and was brought out now and sold so that it should not be wasted. The loss to the farmer was far greater than the loss of the seed, for his land was useless for the time. From Messrs. Sutton's there is no possibility that seed of this kind should be received, for every sample is carefully tested before any of it is allowed to be sold. The testing houses are a long row of green houses, in which the visitor will see the testing done with the greatest accuracy. We ourselves saw mangles that showed 120 per cent. of germination. The seed trial grounds, which consist of nearly 50 acres, will be laid out with the various crops the firm are noted for and as these adjoin the showyard all should pay them a visit. We can only say that those who omit paying Messrs. Sutton's premises and grounds a visit during the show week will miss a very great treat. Permission will easily be obtained, and a pleasant hour will be spent.

Adjoining Messrs. Sutton's premises, and originally built for the firm, but since purchased by Mr. Martin J. Sutton, is the Abbey Institute, a Society which provides the advantages of a club for the young men of Reading. This is a handsome building, in which are public lectures, good reading rooms, and class-rooms, where languages and sciences are taught all the year round. Among the other matters which must not be forgotten during the week is the sewage farm which uses up the sewage of the town of Reading. It lies South-west of the town, and comprises from 600 to 700 acres. Under the able management of the farm steward, Mr Champion, some extraordinary crops of Italian ryegrass and mangel wurzel have been grown—here also from the good seeds supplied by the firm to which we have just directed attention. These crops are consumed by a herd of cows probably without equal on any dairy farm in the kingdom.—Morning Post, July 6th.

TESTIMONIAL.
From S. JENNINGS, Esq., Late Vice-President of the Agri-Horti Society of India.
"With reference to your mode of packing seeds for export, I must say how much I was gratified with the system you were so good as to show me. During the whole of my long Indian experience it was my constant regret that English packed seeds were almost invariably lower in germinating power than the American. After seeing the elaborate precautions you take in executing such orders as that of the Agri-Horti Society of India, I am by no means surprised to hear that you have been gratified by the receipt of so much testimony from the tropics as to the condition of your seeds upon arrival. If your correspondents are only careful not to open their tin cases until the seed is to be sown, I have no doubt the contents will be found in excellent condition."

IMPERIAL QUARTO.
ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY,
WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION.
An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.
For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterised Chinese publications.
To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration:—Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto published.
For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasionally.
It comprises upwards of two thousand large quarto pages.
A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made to Purchasers of SIX or more Copies.
